INTRODUCTION

Universities, online communities, and youth-led digital spaces have become key centers for political discussion and civic mobilization. However, these spaces are also susceptible to manipulation by political actors, extremist narratives, and divisive messaging, which can heighten tensions especially during elections. While digital platforms offer opportunities for democratic engagement and youth involvement, they also facilitate misinformation, hate speech, polarization, incitement, and (electoral) violence.

The “DARE Crafting: #Slash the Hate” project addresses these challenges by promoting responsible and ethical digital participation among youth

PROJECT OBJECTIVES

Strengthen youth-led digital advocacy and civic education initiatives that support peaceful and responsible engagements online

01. Develop and share innovative digital peacebuilding messages and products across various online platforms aimed toward preventing hate and violence

02. Establish safe digital spaces that support youth engagement, dialogue, and peaceful civic mobilization

03. Counter hate speech, misinformation, and online incitement that may lead to (electoral) violence.
